Baldwin Police Department

Police K-9 Unit Proposal

Training Costs

Handler Course: Free through Chatham County Sheriff's Office or Hall County Sheriff's Office.

Housing: Hall County Sheriff's Office training would occur close enough for a daily drive to and from the training location. Chatham County Sheriff's Office provides a kennel and room for the handler at no cost to the city and is during the handler's course. Students may stay in the dorm room over weekends even when class is not in session.

Food: Hall County Sheriff's Office training would not qualify for daily per diem. Chatham County Sheriff's Office would require payment of $50 per day per diem per city travel policy.

Length of Training: Both courses are 4 weeks in length and K-9s will be certified with the dog following the completion of the handler course.

Certification: Chatham County Sheriff's Office has a much more rigorous certification for the K-9. Both handlers course are well designed, the only difference is the stronger certification the K-9 must pass at the end. Hall County Sheriff's Office utilizes the North America Police Work Dog Association's certification to certify the handler/K-9. Both are nationally recognized certifications.

Certification Costs: Hall County Sheriff's Office would cost the city approximately $50-$100 per K-9 team annually to obtain certification. Chatham County Sheriff's Office does not use a private association's certification program to certify K-9 teams so there is no direct certification cost. Both agencies offer the K-9 handler's course free of charge.

Cost of Fuel: Currently, it would cost approximately $540 per course (4 weeks in length) to attend a handler's course in Chatham County (taking into account the student driving home for weekends). The approximate cost of driving back and forth daily to Hall County Sheriff's Office location would be $480.

Approximate Cost of Chatham County Sheriff's Office: $1,540

Approximate Cost of Hall County Sheriff's Office Certification: $580

Note:

Chatham County Sheriff's Office and Hall County Sheriff's Office are two of the main government run and cost-effective K-9 training locations which is why they were used. There are private training vendors, but the cost is substantially more.

Currently, the Baldwin Police Department employs Cpt Justin Ferguson, who has been certified as a canine handler previously and has several years of experience handling canines. The proposal for the initial startup of a canine unit would include Cpt Ferguson as the handler for the next few years. This will allow the department to begin a canine unit while being able to rely on his knowledge and experience and ensure it is done in accordance with proper policy and procedures. Since Cpt Ferguson is already a certified handler, there will be no cost of training other than approximately $100 for certification.
